□ Offer your guests the perfect conference experience

Having the right technical systems available in conference suites – irrespective of size – makes a significant contribution to the success of an event. Because guests who use your premises for (business) events and conferences don't want technical limitations or glitches to interfere with the smooth running of their meeting.

Do you want to equip your conference rooms according to your particular requirements?

We kit out your rooms with the most appropriate presentation technology, the right media control system and suitably dimensioned sound systems. Our service not only covers consultation, equipment supply and system implementation, but on-going support for the components we provide too.

➤ We have the ideal solution for every requirement.

□ Achieving the perfect sound

A system capable of the high-fidelity reproduction of speech and music is a key component of an event/conference facility. Proper sound has a significant effect on the atmosphere in the room and the attentiveness of the audience.

We offer high-quality public address and sound systems – as permanent installations or mobile solutions, for indoor and outdoor use, e.g.:

- loudspeakers (ceiling/front)
- microphones (hand/lapel)
- sound mixers

We tune the performance ratings of the sound systems to suit your premises – with easy-to-use operation to cater to changing employees and guests.

➤ Provide your guests with the ideal sound and ease of use.

□ Mastering the technology – with the right media control system

The technical equipment in conference and event facilities must be intuitive and easy to control so that event attendees can concentrate on what's important – the content. Whether individual components, like projectors, or an entire room control system are involved – everything must work smoothly.

We offer integrated media control solutions that allow your employees and guests to intuitively operate and (remote) control all technical components of the system on their own. Precisely tailored to your needs and venues.

➤ Offer your guests modern communication technology à la carte.

□ Professionally present what should be seen

Being able to visually present content professionally is one of the key factors in successful (business) events and conferences. Having the right presentation equipment on hand helps ensure the success of such gatherings.

Our portfolio covers all the relevant areas:

- monitors
- projectors/visualisers
- mounting systems: wall/ceiling mounts
- projection screens

Including all necessary accessories, of course.

➤ Draw on our experience to enhance your professionalism.
